2015 SUMMER READING KICKOFF

Super Hero Bon Dance Kickoff Highlights

More than 1,500 people, including First Lady Dawn Amano Ige helped kick off the statewide summer reading program with a "Super Hero Bon Dance" at the Hawaii State Library on June 6.

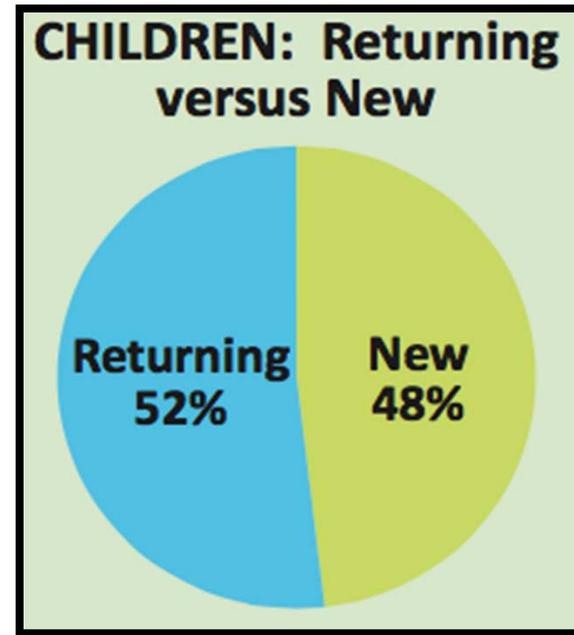

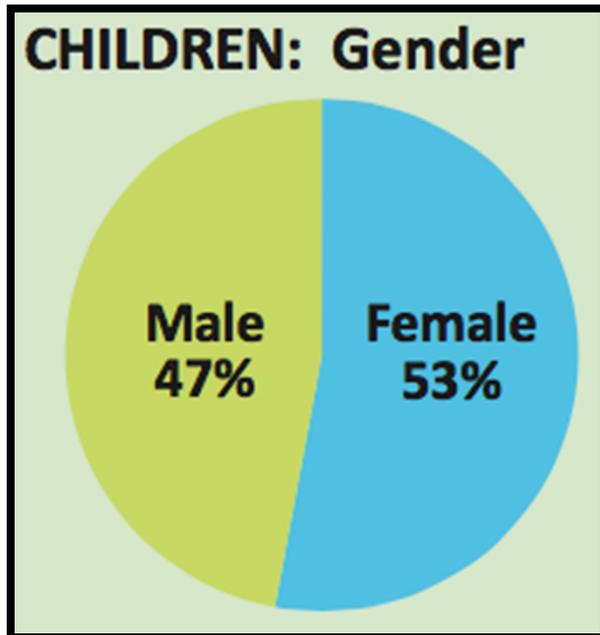

Keiki to kupuna donned their capes and happi coats to dance and celebrate reading and our ancestor heroes! Batman, Wonder Woman, Kikaida and Star Wars' Storm Troopers joined real-life law enforcement, military and safety personnel at the event to exemplify the various kinds of heroes that were explored throughout the Summer Reading Program. Sponsors and community partners joined in the fun by hosting booths with free refreshments, kid-friendly activities, make-it and take-it crafts and live demonstrations.

1,500 people participated in the Summer Reading Kickoff in Honolulu

PARTICIPATION BY GENDER/AGE

KAPAA' PILOT PROJECT

“Goal is to create a summer reading program that is more about pleasurable reading and community engagement and less about reading incentives and the number of books read.”

-Lani Kawahara
Branch Manager

KAPA'A PILOT PROJECT

“get kids doing/trying/thinking rather than counting/earning/winning.” –Association for Library Service

Instead of weekly prizes, all participants will take part in a “group build” or collaborative project. Bingo cards will be given to Toddlers through Young Adults to encourage reading and activities. All Participants will be asked to record number of minutes spent reading.

- Toddlers thru Pre-K will be filling in a fun, oversized superhero poster with stickers they earn by playing Summer Reading Bingo
- K-6th graders will earn puzzle pieces for a large 700+ piece superhero puzzle on the library wall by playing Summer Reading Bingo
- YAs will participate in a Read to Feed program donating $50 to KIFB Backpack program. YA's will use Bingo cards to race two superheroes to the end of the program by reading the most minutes. Minutes read will activate the donation at the end of the program.
- Adults will participate in a Read to Feed program where time spent reading is converted into a $250 donation to Kauai Independent Food Bank from the Friends of the Kapa'a Public Library.

KAPA'A PILOT PROJECT

"It's a way to make reading a priority during the summer. I liked the way the bingo cards encouraged us to read different things: poetry, non-fiction, newspapers and magazines. It encouraged us to be pro-active in relating stories to others and writing, not only reading."

2015 Summer Reading Programs

"Summer of SUPER READING"

SUPER READERS!

Celebrating the theme of fictional and real-life heroes, citizens of all ages registered in the Hawaii State Public Library System's (HSPLS) 2015 Summer Reading Program and emerged as "SUPER READERS!" From May 31 to July 18th, 29,055 patrons joined the annual Summer Reading Program and unleashed their reading powers to collectively read an amazing 400,477 books! With an expanded 7-week long program, children and teens read more, strengthened their reading abilities and successfully avoided "summer slide" by participating in their library's engaging array of activities and programs. The Summer Reading Program fostered family time and many reported reading more for enjoyment, appreciated the interactive and educationally-enriching activities offered and felt the experience was a great alternative to technology and gadgets!

Heroes – From Past and Present, Near and Far

Throughout the summer, HSPLS branches provided a variety of programs inspired by the theme of heroes--through story times, movie showings, community speakers, musical artists, performers, craft programs and more.

Families were captivated by storyteller Nyla Fujii-Babb's tales of famous Hawaiian heroes including Maui, Punia, Laka, Ikuu Purdy and Duke Kahanamoku. Fujii-Babb, one of Hawaii's premier storytellers, presented "Hawaiian Heroes: Past and Present" at selected branches statewide. Greywolf, a Native American medieval armorer, shared his weapons smithing experience and displayed his authentic handcrafted weapons, antiques and period costumes during his talks about "Heroes of the Classic Era" and "Women Warriors of Asia." These featured artists were sponsored by the Statewide Cultural Extension Program (SCEP) through the University of Hawaii's Outreach College, the Hawaii State Foundation on Culture and the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

What We Learned this Year

This year, HSPLS posed different questions to participants to learn more about their experiences and to better understand the impact made by the Summer Reading Program. Feedback was received from 2,007 patrons representing 60% of the libraries who shared these perspectives:

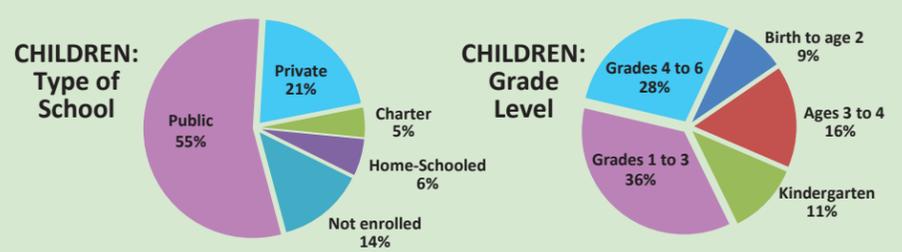

CHILDREN

In seven weeks, 18,916 children flexed their brain powers and collectively read a colossal 320,242 books, for an impressive average of 17 books per reader! The following charts describe our keiki participants:

CHILDREN: Returning versus New

2015 CHILDREN'S SUMMER READING PROGRAM EXPERIENCE

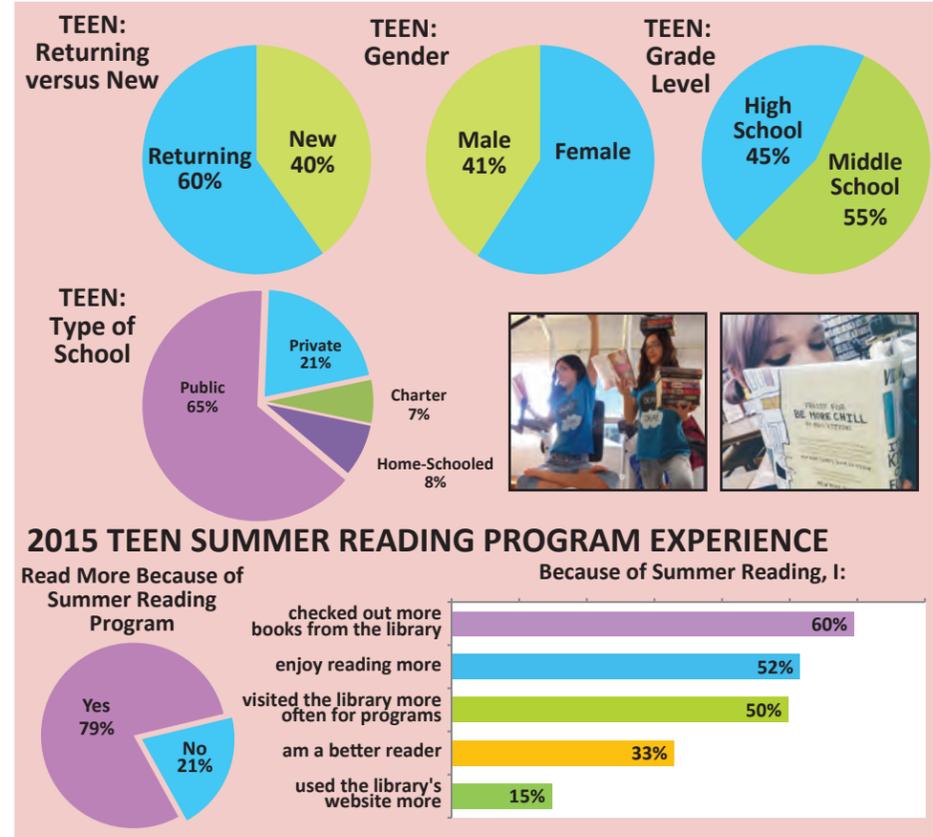

Power Program Partners

HSPLS collaborated with generous corporate partners to provide exciting experiences for children and families.

"Super Hero Academy" programs, sponsored by HouseMart Ace Hardware and HouseMart Ben Franklin Crafts, featured demonstrations and interactive stations that encouraged children to explore hardware science experiments to test their reflexes and repelling ability and using their imagination to create super hero crafts. Thirty-one Super Hero Academy Programs were attended by 1,782 children and their families, on Oahu, Hawaii Island, Kauai, Maui, Lanai and Molokai.

McDonalds Restaurants of Hawaii sponsored Ronald McDonald's "It's Book Time!" shows, which blended music, magic and humor, while encouraging the message that reading is fun and books are an important part of everyday life. Fourteen shows had a combined attendance of 1,448 attendees.

In 2015, 3,284 teens throughout the islands "unmasked" their reading passion, exuberant creativity and commitment to their communities by joining the Teen Summer Reading Program. Showcasing their love of reading, youthful creativity and social media, nearly a hundred teens entered our "Get Caught Reading" Instagram photo contest. HSPLS marked 23 years of partnership with Hawaii Pizza Hut, through the Teen Summer Reading Program and their corporate support provided funding for regional prizes of tech gadgets, entertainment and apparel gift cards.

TEEN

Super Teen Summer Volunteers

The majority of libraries (70%) utilized teen and adult volunteers to register patrons, distribute weekly incentives and assist with special activities. A total of 408 volunteers contributed 7,758 hours and their invaluable service contributed to the overall success of the Summer Reading Program.

Special recognition goes to the 264 dedicated teen volunteers who donated 5,671 hours of their free time to engage and support their library and community through the summer reading programs. Their support allowed library staff to continue providing core services such as reference and readers advisory, assisting with technology services, and circulation of materials.

"Thank you to the volunteers. Very professional, courteous and informative."

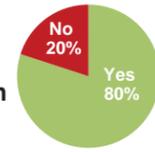

"The teen volunteers are fantastic—it's great to see so many young people donating their time during the summer and help make our summer reading program a big success!!! Kudos!"

"I thought it was fun to volunteer for this program!"
